

Earlier today, World Literature Today, the University of Oklahoma's award-winning international literature and culture magazine, has announced the shortlist of finalists for the 2018 Neustadt International Prize for Literature. The prestigious Neustadt Prize recognizes significant contributions to the world of literature and has a history as a forerunner to the Nobel Prize in Literature.

For details and other nominees, see <https://www.neustadtprize.org/2018-neustadt-prize-finalists-announced/>